

workers, you listen. And don't just listen for the sake of saying "Okay, we listened and we're still going to keep doing things the same way we've always done them because that's how we've always done them . . ." it means listening for the purpose of action. Take a broad view: if you don't provide parental leave to a male employee, you know who suffers? A new mother who might have to delay her re-entry into the workforce—perhaps permanently—because her partner can't participate in childrearing duties. That's a withholding of a women's economic opportunity. And you need to turn your thermostats up in the office. I'm serious—this has "Patriarchy" written all over it. You see, the so-called ideal office temperature is based on a formula that calculated the average of workers' resting metabolic rates, but the workers in question were all men, an average of 40 old, and an average of 154 pounds. Oh, and they were wearing suits and ties. Today's workforce doesn't look the same. There are women in the workforce—and remember, the rigid gender binary has created the expectation that women wear things like skirts and sandals in warmer months, so the clothing differences already create more exposure for us. We also have seniors working longer before retirement, so the workforce also has an aging population that may be more thermosensitive.

That's what we mean when we say inequity is "systemic"—the formulas are actually built in to our lives through infrastructure, fashion, and employment practices. So anyway, when half the office is shivering and stepping into the service stairwell every couple hours to thaw out, you need to bump up the temperature.

So as I bring my remarks to a close, I want to share with you a quote from James Joyce's Ulysses, in which the speaker says "We feel in England that we have treated you rather unfairly. It seems history is to blame." And I really enjoy that line because it speaks to how we distance ourselves from the oppression of others. You see, by stating that "history" is to blame, it implies [a] that there was nothing we could have done about it, and [b] that we're not responsible for fixing things. But of course, that isn't true. We are absolutely in control of how we invest, how we govern, how we vote, and how we envision "opportunity." As you engage with workshops, panels, and networking settings throughout today's event, keep these things in mind: who is at the table, who is missing, which intersecting identities are at play here, and who shapes the agenda for action. Remember what Senator Leahy said: "a stronger and more equitable economy." We can get there, but it must include all of us . . . whatever your career might be, equity is still your job. Thank you for your time.

BUDGETARY REVISIONS

Mr. SANDERS. Madam President, S. Con. Res. 14, the fiscal year 2022 congressional budget resolution, included a reserve fund in section 3003 to allow the chairman of the Committee on the Budget to revise budget aggregates and committee allocations for legislation that would not increase the deficit over the period of fiscal years 2022 to 2031.

The Senate will soon consider S. 1605, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2022, as amended by the House, which meets the condition of not increasing the deficit over the relevant 10-year period. As such, I am filing a revision to the aggregates and committee allocations under the bud-et resolution, which were last revised on December 9. Specifically, the Congressional Budget Office estimates that the anti-fraud provisions in the bill would increase both direct spending and revenues by $23 million over 5 years and $72 million over 10 years.

I ask unanimous consent that the accompanying tables, which provide details about the adjustment, be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

VOTE EXPLANATION

Ms. SINEMA. Madam President, I was necessarily absent, but had I been present I would have voted yes on rollcall vote No. 492 on the Motion to Invoke Cloture on Lucy Koh, to be U.S. Circuit Judge for the Ninth Circuit.

I was necessarily absent, but had I been present I would have voted yes on rollcall vote No. 493 on the Motion to Invoke Cloture on Jennifer Sung, to be U.S. Circuit Judge for the Ninth Circuit.

TRIBUTE TO LIEUTENANT SEAN MCDONALD

Mr. KING. Madam President, today I wish to recognize LT Sean McDonald, U.S. Navy, for his outstanding work on behalf of the people of Maine and the Nation as a 2021 Department of Defense Legislative Fellow serving in my Washington, DC, office. Lieutenant McDonald has been integral to shaping my foreign policy and national security priorities and helped secure a number of provisions in the fiscal year 2022 National Defense Authorization Act—FY22 NDAA—that will make our country stronger and safer. Lieutenant McDonald's contributions, both to office morale and to our collective work product, are representative of his good character, competence, and strong work ethic.

Throughout his tenure in my office, Lieutenant McDonald demonstrated a level of professionalism and hard work I have come to expect—but that I do not take for granted—from Department of Defense Legislative Fellows. Indeed, Lieutenant McDonald follows a long line of accomplished U.S. Navy and Marine Corps officers who have made impactful contributions to my office and to U.S. national security policy. Over the course of the year, Lieutenant McDonald prepared and personally advised me on wide-ranging and complex matters under consideration before the Senate Armed Services Committee. Lieutenant McDonald brought his naval expertise to bear to help secure authorization for the procurement of additional Arleigh Burke-class destroyers in the FY22 NDAA, a critical capability for the U.S. fleet and a boon to the Maine shipbuilding workforce. He also helped guide my work as chairman of the Subcommittee on Strategic Forces during my inaugural year in this position, helping craft policy on nuclear and strategic forces, missile defense, and space programs. Further, during the withdrawal of U.S. forces in Afghanistan, Lieutenant McDonald provided clear-headed and thoughtful analysis on the withdrawal and liaised with representatives from the White House, State Department, and Department of Defense to convey my positions and concerns. His candor and honest assessments provided critical insights during this challenging time, and our Nation is better because of it.

On behalf of my colleagues and the U.S. Congress, I thank Lieutenant McDonald for his dedicated service to my staff, the U.S. Navy, and the Nation. I wish him all the best and know that he will excel in his next endeavors.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

TRIBUTE TO MICHAEL C. NELSEN

● Mr. LEE. Madam President, it is an honor to stand here today to recognize and celebrate the career of Police Chief Michael C. Nelsen of the Brigham City Police Department. For the last 42 years, he has diligently served and protected the people of Brigham City. His positive impact on the lives of many will be remembered as he transitions into retirement.

I wonder if, as a young pre-law student at Rick's College in Rexburg, ID, Mike Nelsen ever sat back to imagine the impact his life would have on so many others? I wonder if, as a student of criminal, justice administration at Brigham Young University, Mike Nelsen ever dreamed of leading a police department to new heights and great successes? However, I hope that at the sunset of an impressive career, Chief Nelsen realizes the significance of the mark he has left on the lives of countless others and the new heights and great successes he has achieved.

During his career as a police officer, Chief Nelsen climbed through the
